

In high school, students are divided into houses to foster teamwork and camaraderie, promote healthy competition, develop leadership skills, encourage school spirit and identity, and support character development. This system helps students grow academically, socially, and personally through collaborative activities, friendly rivalry, and leadership opportunities, ultimately instilling values like teamwork, discipline, and sportsmanship.

We are extremely glad to introduce the four distinctive houses with their mascots namely – Chola ( the tigers ) , Guptha ( the stallions ) , Mourya ( the Tuskers) and Satavahana ( the leos ) their names inspired by the influence and contribution of the four Indian rulers the Cholas, Gupthas, Mouryas and Satavahanas

Satavahanas

The Satavahanas are credited for establishing peace in the country, The Satavahana kings were renowned for their spirit of tolerance. Inspired by the team the satvahana house showcases patience and tolerance and the incessant zeal towards accomplishing their goals.

Chola

Often called as the Golden Age of Indian culture, the Chola age was one of the greatest literary eras in history which remarked the greatest achievements of the Kings of Chola Empire in the field of Art and Architecture. Imbibing the legacy, we believe the Chola house will mark milestones in the fields of culture, heritage and sports and take the existence of Monte to greater heights.

Gupta

The time of the Gupta Empire is referred to as an epitome of science, mathematics, astronomy, religion and Indian philosophy. The peace and prosperity created under leadership of Gupta's enabled the pursuit of scientific and artistic endeavours. A team of utopian fighters, the Gupta house is a precedent of unparalleled competence and thinking.

Maurya

The Mauryan dynasty's long period of stability and prosperity contributed greatly in governance and administration with the introduction of a highly centralized administrative system with a frame of bureaucratic institutions.

Mauryan house is an exemplary bouquet of discipline, hard work and modesty

Henceforth we want the captains and the members of the four house to inspire all with a spirit of commitment and achievement and take the legacy of their supposed names ahead.
